

Curriculum overview

In tag rugby pupils will consolidate their understanding of attacking and defending. Pupils will create tactics for both attack and defence and apply them into game situations, adapting them when necessary.

Word	Definition	Our topic is...  	Pupils will know that... - Tactics are a carefully planned set of actions that are used by a team or an individual to attain a certain goal. - Transition is defined as the process of recognising and responding after losing or regaining possession. - Offside occurs when a tag takes place. All players on the defending team, must step back towards their goal line. A defender must not intercept that first pass, unless they are in front of the attacker who was tagged. If a defender behind the tagged attacker intercepts the first pass, this is known as offside. - A knock on is an offence committed by the attacking team when the ball carrier or an attacker receiving a pass 'drops' the ball forwards towards their opponents try line. - An advantage is applied when an infringement occurs. Instead of stopping the game the referee can apply an 'advantage' to the non-offending team if they have/gain possession and create an attack.
Tactics A practical method, step, or manoeuvre you use to reach an objective. Transition When possession of the ball changes to the other team. Offside An illegal position for a defender to be in. Formation How players position themselves on the pitch to work as a team effectively. Tag Two tags attached to each players' hip that the opposition have to pull off. Tag belt A belt that goes around each players' waist and has two tags attached.
Inspirational rugby figure Nigel Owens was a Welsh international rugby union referee. Nigel holds the record for the international matches refereed, exactly 100. This includes the 2015 Rugby World Cup Final between New Zealand and Australia.
